Dear Catholic Administrators, Educators, and Campus Ministers:

This year the Duc In Altum (DIA) Schools Collaborative will host the 10th Annual DIA Schools Summit at the University of St. Thomas, here in the Archdiocese of Galveston-Houston. DIA Schools embolden the future of the Church through mission-focused Catholic school management and formation.

DIA Schools Collaborative is an association dedicated to “casting into the deep” to evangelize and form the future of the Church. Each year, the DIA Schools Summit brings together administrators, educators, and campus ministers to exchange best practices for fostering a dynamic environment of evangelization. These professionals return to their school communities prepared to instill in our students, faculty, staff, and families an authentic friendship with Jesus and a love for His Church.

It is a joy to welcome this unique endeavor within the life of the Church for the cultivation of academic and spiritual excellence.

With gratitude for your dedication to Catholic education, I am

Sincerely yours in Christ,

+Daniel Cardinal DiNardo
